Our interview skills preparation course is highly interactive and includes both theory and practice, ensuring that our delegates learn key skills required for medical interviews through discussion and active participation.

The course has been developed by experienced medics and interview specialists who have expertise and in-depth knowledge in interview training, providing students with the opportunity to gain invaluable skills that can be applied to interviews and jobs in the future.

All students will be split up into smaller groups and will spend 3 hours participating in mock interviews, where they will receive individual feedback on their answers. The students will rotate around different types of Multiple Mini Interview stations which are designed to assess and test their communication and problem-solving skills.

We are confident that our training will effectively equip students with the insight and practical preparation needed in order to succeed, and we believe our teaching style gives each student the opportunity for both individual practice and learning from others.

“ I found the course very useful and a success in equipping me for the process of applying to medical school. I would highly recommend it to other students who are in the same position as I was this time last year. I was offered 4 interviews for medical school and received all 4 offers.”

Charlotte Hamilton

“ The Kingsbridge Training Academy interview course was extremely helpful in my preparation for interview; I received plenty of great advice and tips that I wouldn't otherwise have come by, and the opportunity to practise my interview skills in front of those taking the course provided me with a lot of valuable feedback. The course allowed me to develop a strong confidence at interview, prior to the real thing.”
